Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45 (c), (d), (e), and (g) (Effective 12/1/13)(c) Place of Compliance.

(1) For a Trial, Hearing, or Deposition. A subpoena may command a person to attend a trial, hearing, or deposition only as follows:

- (A) within 100 miles of where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person; or
- (B) within the state where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person, if the person
 - (i) is a party or a party's officer; or
 - (ii) is commanded to attend a trial and would not incur substantial expense.

(2) For Other Discovery. A subpoena may command:

- (A) production of documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things at a place within 100 miles of where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person; and
- (B) inspection of premises at the premises to be inspected.

(d) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena; Enforcement.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The court for the district where compliance is required must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction—which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees—on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing, or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises—or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

- (i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party may move the court for the district where compliance is required for an order compelling production or inspection.
- (ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the court for the district where compliance is required must quash or modify a subpoena that:

- (i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;
- (ii) requires a person to comply beyond the geographical limits specified in Rule 45(c);
- (iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or
- (iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the court for the district where compliance is required may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

- (i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information; or

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party.

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(d)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

- (i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and
- (ii) ensures that the subpoenaed person will be reasonably compensated.

(e) Duties in Responding to a Subpoena.

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) Claiming Privilege or Protection.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

- (i) expressly make the claim; and
- (ii) describe the nature of the withheld documents, communications, or tangible things in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable the parties to assess the claim.

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information under seal to the court for the district where compliance is required for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(g) Contempt.

The court for the district where compliance is required—and also, after a motion is transferred, the issuing court—may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena or an order related to it.

Defendants request that You produce, wherever located, all documents described below that are in Your possession, custody, or control, wherever located, regardless of whether they are possessed directly by You or any of Your agents, representatives, employees, accountants, attorneys, or other persons acting or purporting to act on Your behalf.

1. Unless otherwise specified, the time period for these Requests is January 1, 2018 through April 17, 2021.

2. Responsive Documents shall be produced in image format, with searchable text load files that are compatible with standard litigation support software, including Relativity, Concordance, and IPRO. The images shall be black and white, single-page, 300 DPI, Group IV .tiff images. Images for documents created with office or personal productivity software (e.g., wordprocessing documents, spreadsheets, presentations, databases, charts, and graphs) shall include tracked changes, comments, hidden rows, columns or worksheets, speakers notes, and any other similar content that can be made visible within the application. The load file shall include for each Document, the metadata fields listed below. For any Documents that have been globally de-duplicated, the custodian field shall reflect the all custodians who had a copy of the Document during processing and before de-duplication. For each individual Document based on an electronic file, the load file shall, unless such Document contains redactions, contain the path to the corresponding text that is extracted from the electronic file. Documents produced in redacted form shall contain text generated by optical character recognition (OCR) of the redacted image(s). In addition to the foregoing, for all email, the load file shall also include, to the extent practicable, header information including: (1) the individual(s) to whom the communication was directed (“To”); (2) the author of the e-mail communication (“From”); (3) all individuals who were copied (“cc”) and/or blind copied (“bcc”) on the communication; (4) the subject line of the communication (“Re” or “Subject”); and (5) the date and time sent. For each Document, the load file shall also contain: (1) the beginning Bates number (referring to the first page of the Document); (2) the ending Bates number (referring to the last page of the Document); and in the case of Documents with attachments, (3) the beginning attachment range number(s), and (4) the ending attachment range number(s), where the “attachment range” records the relationship of Documents to their attachments. The attachment range should be recorded from the first page of the first Document in the attachment range, to the last page of the last Document in the attachment range. In addition, all spreadsheet, presentation, audio, and audiovisual Documents that do not require redaction shall be produced in native format with a single-page placeholder (Group IV .tiff image) indicating that the file is being produced in native format. The right to demand production of any other responsive Documents in their native format (including all metadata) is expressly reserved.

3. Unless otherwise specified, these Requests are limited to Documents and Communications (i) sent to, from, cc, or bcc Gary Gensler's MIT email address, (ii) maintained on any laptop or desktop computer used by Gary Gensler at MIT, or (iii) maintained on any MIT network or shared drive or folder maintained, used, or accessed in the normal course by Gary Gensler or any individual acting on his behalf.

4. A Request for a document shall be deemed to include a request for all transmittal sheets, cover letters, exhibits, enclosures, attachments, or other matters affixed to the document, in addition to the document itself.

5. Each Request seeks production of each document in its entirety without abbreviations, redaction, or expurgation.

6. Responsive documents and communications are to be designated clearly so as to reflect their owner and/or custodian. Any document not produced in electronic format is to be produced in its original file folder, with all labels or similar markings intact and included, and with the name of the Person from whose file it was produced.

7. Electronically stored information, or "ESI," shall be produced in the form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a form that is reasonably usable. Specifically, where the documents responsive to a Request are stored electronically, any responsive e-mails, Word documents, and other unstructured data are to be produced in TIFF plus metadata plus extracted text format. Any responsive Excel charts, PowerPoints, databases, and other structured data are to be produced in native format. The right to demand production of any other responsive documents in their native format (including all available metadata) is expressly reserved.

8. Each Request herein requires that You produce files from all reasonably accessible sources of information in or on which You or Your document custodians store or maintain potentially responsive documents.

9. Draft or non-identical copies are to be considered separate documents for purposes of these Requests. Any and all drafts and copies of each document that are responsive to any Request for documents shall be produced, as shall all copies of such documents that are not identical in any respect, including, but not limited to, copies containing handwritten notes, markings, stamps, or interlineations, whether or not the original of such document is within Your possession, custody, or control. The author(s) of all handwritten notes should be identified.

10. You shall construe each Request independently and not with reference to any other Request for purposes of limitation.

11. The use of the term “the” shall not be construed as limiting the scope of any Request.

12. If it is not possible to produce any document called for by a Request, or if any part of a Request is objected to, the reasons for the failure to produce the documents or the objection should be stated specifically as to all grounds. If there are no documents or communications responsive to any particular Request or subpart thereof, You shall state so in writing

13. If You claim any form of privilege or protection or other reason as a ground for withholding from production requested documents, You shall furnish a privilege log in compliance with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(e)(2) and any other parameters agreed between You and Defendants.

14. If You contend that any Request is overly broad and/or unduly burdensome, identify all aspects of the Request that are overly broad or unduly burdensome and produce the documents and communications that are not subject to this contention.

15. These Requests are continuing in nature, and any document obtained or located after the production pursuant hereto, which would have been produced had it been available or its existence known at the time, is to be supplied promptly by way of a supplemental production.

16. Defendants serve these Requests without prejudice to their right to serve additional Requests for the production of documents.
